

courts—who daily preside over important and difficult issues. They faithfully carry out their duties and diligently work to support the administration of justice. We must do all that we can to provide adequate security to these dedicated men and women who sometimes are targeted for violence or harassment because of the position they hold.

Unfortunately, episodes of courthouse violence in this country are on the rise, including in my home State of Texas. I was a judge for 13 years and have a number of close personal friends who still serve on the bench today. I am outraged by acts of courthouse violence. I personally know judges and their families who have been victims of violence, and I have grieved with those families.

Acts of violence against judges are unacceptable and reflect a distortion of the role of the judiciary. Judges are impartial umpires of the law—they simply call the balls and strikes—and they cannot help but disappoint people. However, it is unacceptable for judges, courthouse personnel or other law enforcement officials to face threats and violence for doing nothing more than faithfully carrying out their professional duties.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has examined issues related to courthouse security at a recent hearing. At this hearing, the Judicial Conference raised several important issues, including its working relationship with the United States Marshals Service, the need to protect judges outside of the courthouse, and common instances of intimidation and harassment directed at judges.

This hearing and these issues provide the foundation for this bill. Let me discuss a few of the security improvements made by this bill.

The U.S. Marshals Service has primary responsibility for providing security to the judiciary. However, the Judicial Conference testified that they are not consulted when decisions, which directly implicate their security, are made. The Marshal's Service should willingly coordinate and communicate with the judiciary on security concerns. This legislation would codify this commonsense idea and keep the judiciary informed of, and allow them to provide suggestions for, decisions regarding their security.

This bill also addresses a relatively recent problem that poses a particular danger to public officials. Personal information, such as home addresses and phone numbers, of Federal officials when posted on the Internet can be readily accessed and used to intimidate or harm them. Recently, personal information of Federal judges have been posted on the Internet and used to facilitate threats against them. This bill would punish those who, with the intent to harm, post restricted information of public officials, or of their immediate family, on the Internet.

Additionally, members of the Federal judiciary have been targets of intimidation or harassment by some who file false liens against the real or personal property of a judge who has presided over a criminal or civil case, or who has otherwise acted against the interests of a litigant. This provision would make it a crime to knowingly file a false lien against the property of a Federal judge or law enforcement officer on the basis of their official status.

Finally, and importantly, this bill authorizes Federal grants to be made available to State courts to improve security for State and local court systems. We must comprehensively approach this problem by providing funding to State courts to update their security while standing by to swiftly and severely punish those who cause or attempt to cause harm to anyone within the courts.

It is important for us to do all we can to protect the men and women who make up our judicial system because they are essential to the proper administration of justice. I urge my colleagues to support this measure.

I yield the floor.

By Mr. SANTORUM:

S. 972. A bill to require Members of Congress and legislative branch employees to report all contact with officials and representatives of countries designated as state sponsors of terrorism; to the Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs.

Mr. SANTORUM. Mr. President, I rise today to offer remarks about a bill I introduced earlier today, the Terrorist Lobby Disclosure Act of 2005.

My legislation is simple, straightforward and necessary. Because the United States is actively involved in the global war on terror, we must be vigilant in fighting this war on all fronts. This means supplying our men and women of the Armed Forces with equipment and materiel to conduct military operations. It means providing our intelligence community with the resources it needs to make inroads against terrorist organizations and to better safeguard Americans against nations and groups that hate our way of life. It means devoting the time and resources to ensure the safety of our borders, ports and airports. Finally, it means providing transparency in dealing with those nations defined by our government as "state sponsors of terrorism."

According to the Department of State, Iran, Syria, Libya, Cuba, North Korea, and Sudan are the six governments that the U.S. Secretary of State has designated as state sponsors of international terrorism. These are governments that engage directly in terrorist activity themselves; support terrorist groups by providing funding, arms, or other material support; or provide training, logistical support, sanctuary, or diplomatic facilities. These states are the worst of the worst when it comes to fighting the global war on terror.

My bill requires Members of Congress and employees of the legislative branch to disclose, on a quarterly basis, any contacts with representatives or officials of governments that have been designated as state sponsors of international terrorism. The contacts must be reported to the U.S. Department of State, Secretary of the Senate, and Clerk of the House of Representatives. My bill makes sure that the congressional committees of oversight are also duly informed of these contacts. Let me be clear, my bill does not prohibit these contacts. Rather, with men and women serving in harm's way in the global war on terror, it simply requires disclosure and transparency in the conduct of their official duties.

As we commit final resources and valuable human capital to prosecute the global war on terror, we ought to know if members of our own government are meeting with individuals who are representatives of terrorist nations. The American people deserve to know if there are contacts happening with representatives of these regimes—regimes that are actively opposed to America.
